

QUICK REFERENCE GUIDE

ONLINE TRADING

From My Perspective

Trading became my personal pathway to freedom — the freedom to travel, live anywhere, and earn income online, without being tied to a fixed location. I wanted something I could fit around family life, something short, structured, and repeatable, so it didn't take me away from the kids or the experiences we wanted to have together.

It's about skill, patience, and structure, not stress or long hours.

1. MY TRADING STORY

I started small, just testing the waters, learning how markets move, and trying to find patterns that made sense. Over time, I developed two strategies that became my go-to.

BOUNCE STRATEGY

Recognizing when the market rejects a key level and entering a trade when it confirms a bounce.

Market touches a key level, gets rejected, and bounces up. You enter on confirmation.

BREAK STRATEGY

Identifying when a market breaks a support or resistance level, letting you capture a move as it unfolds.

Market breaks a key level with momentum. You enter in the direction of the break.

These aren't about luck or guessing. They're structured, repeatable strategies that give you clarity and confidence.

For any mum or dad balancing work, family, and life, these strategies are incredibly adaptable. You don't need to dedicate hours every day — you can practice in small, focused windows, allowing you to be present with your family while still building consistent income.

It's about skill, patience, and structure, not stress or long hours.

2. PROP FIRM TRADING

One of the biggest game-changers for me was prop firm trading. Here's the simple idea:

You can trade futures — primarily NASDAQ and Gold — without risking your own money.

Start with a small challenge, even as low as $100.

If you meet the target (around 6% gain), you move into a funded stage. You add another 6%, and from then on, profits above that are split 90% to you, 10% to the firm.

Some firms fund you in just one day, others require consistent performance over several days.

Prop firm trading lets you scale faster and learn without risking personal capital, which is ideal if you want financial freedom while still being fully engaged with your family.

3. PRACTICAL TAKEAWAYS

Start small — use a practice account or a small prop firm challenge.

Join the course and the community to accelerate your learning.

Focus on mindset and consistency — structure beats long hours or stress.

Trade primarily NASDAQ and Gold futures to simplify and stay focused.

Use prop firms to gain experience without risking your own money.

KEY PRINCIPLES THAT KEEP ME FOCUSED

- ✓ Plan your trades before the session
- ✓ Follow your strategy without emotion
- ✓ Risk small to protect your future
- ✓ Review, learn, and improve every day
- ✓ Protect your time with your family

Financial freedom is even better when shared with the people you love.
